Shoppers will now have to shell out £6 to park for up to two hours on the stretch of Green Lanes next to the Harringay Ladder, and business-owners say the increase from £2.80 imposed by Haringey Council is already costing them dearly.

Clive Disney, 49, of Disney's furniture shop, a family business which has been based in Grand Parade since 1913, told the Advertiser: "People are going to pull up to the meter, see the charge of £6 and drive off."

"This is going to have a really big impact, especially in the current trading situation. If times were good, it is something we would fight anyway but so many businesses are really struggling at the moment."

"Already we get so many people ringing up for a quote because they say they passed by and couldn't find a parking meter or it was too expensive to stop."

"The trading estate is just up the road and it is free to park up there. We are supposed to compete on an even basis with those shops but it's impossible."

"Once we have got the customers in the shop we can hopefully impress them with our service and the more personal experience of shopping at an independent, family-run shop like ours, but if we can't get them in in the first place we don't stand a chance."

Shefik Mehmet, chairman of the Harringay Traders' Association, called an emergency meeting of traders on Tuesday afternoon to address the issue.

He said: "I get calls every day from traders reporting back from their customers about parking problems. We are being classed the same as the Wood Green shopping centre area which is ridiculous."

"This is going to make things very difficult for business-owners and we are going to see more shops closing."

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for neighbourhoods at the council, said that the rise in parking charges was the first since 2008.

"Careful consideration was given to the impact of the increased costs, and the changes were introduced in April following a consultation period, including a survey of visitors to the area," she said.

"The popularity of Green Lanes as a shopping area means that demand for parking is very high. We hope that the new charges will encourage a turnover of use – discouraging drivers from taking spaces for too long and allowing more shoppers to visit the area, which will be of benefit to traders."

Director's post whips up storm over £140k pay

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY COUNCIL has created a new £140,000-a-year "place and sustainability director" despite the authority blaming a lack of cash for axing services for elderly and vulnerable people.

Lyn Garner will take up her post at the authority from July 2011, with libraries, parks, anti-social behaviour, planning and regeneration all coming under her remit. Though council bosses insist the post is crucial and argue that the high salary is justified because Ms Garner's portfolio is "unusually wide", they have come under fire from those who describe her appointment in such straitened financial times as "highly questionable".

The salary is more than five times the average salary in England and only slightly less than the Prime Minister's salary of £142,500. When advertising the post, the council created a dedicated website to handle applications, which closed in April.

Stephen Hammond, parliamentary private secretary to Communities Secretary Eric Pickles, told the Telegraph newspaper: "I think that it's highly questionable whether someone in this role should be paid nearly the same as the Prime Minister."

"It's equally disturbing that this Labour council has wasted taxpayers' cash on a vanity website for the job and appear to be covering up details of the post."

"What they have they got to hide? This kind of secretive culture has no place in local government."

The job description said that the successful applicant would join the authority at an "exciting time".

It read: "Never has there been a greater need for innovation and we'll look to you to turn ideas into action and engage with a wide group of stakeholders to secure their buy-in to our ambitions for Haringey."

A council spokeswoman said: "This isn't a new post but a replacement for the current director of urban environment who has left to take up the post of chief executive in Sutton."

"The post has been added to and is now the director for place and sustainability. This is a senior role managing an unusually wide portfolio of services, including planning, regeneration, environmental services, sport, recreation, libraries and leisure."

"The salary is average for this level of responsibility. In order to reduce costs, we processed applications online and managed the majority of recruitment activity through our in-house HR department."

Olympic flame is set to relay along borough's streets

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY will host the Olympic torch as it wings its way around the UK before the London Games next year.

The torch will spend a night in the borough on July 25, 2012, as part of its 70-day relay route to usher in London's turn to host the world's biggest sporting event.

The Olympic flame will arrive in the UK from Greece on May 18 next year and the torch relay will start at Land's End, Cornwall, the next morning.

On leaving Land's End, the Olympic Flame is expected to travel an estimated 8,000 miles around the UK before arriving at the Olympic stadium on July 27 for the lighting of the cauldron at the opening ceremony.

Haringey Council leader Claire Kober said: "We are delighted that Haringey has been chosen to be at the heart of the festivities in the build up to the 2012 Olympic Games. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity which will give thousands of our residents the chance to share in the very special atmosphere of the Games."

"We look forward to working with LOCOG to finalise details for the evening celebration event on July 25."

Sebastian Coe, chairman of the London Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games, added: "The Olympic Flame will shine a light right across every nation and region of the UK and showcase the very best of who we are and where we live.

"The first locations on the route confirmed today give a flavour of the reach the Olympic torch relay will have around the UK and how extensive the opportunity for starting to celebrate the London 2012 Olympic Games will be."

Netball star centres on home to promote sport

YOUNG people in Haringey will be urged to take up netball as a Tottenham-born international star launches a new three-year plan for the sport in the borough.

Sports bosses hope to attract 1,200 new players aged between 15 and 54 in Haringey and to provide at least one term of netball coaching in 15 schools each year as part of the scheme. England international Sasha Corbin has joined the borough's recreation team and will spearhead the plan which will be funded by England Netball through the Sports England Active Women's Programme.

Sasha, who is 23 and who normally plays in wing attack or centre, told the Advertiser: "I'm really excited at the chance to help develop the sport in Haringey."

Councillor Dilek Dogus, cabinet member for adults and community services, added: "Netball is a growing sport with huge potential. It has a large role to play in encouraging women and girls of all ages and backgrounds to become more active."

The plan also involves providing at least one netball court in each ward in Haringey, encouraging disabled people to take up the sport and running open days, tournaments and festivals to raise the profile of netball among residents. It was launched on Saturday at Alexandra Park School in Bidwell Gardens.

Counterfeit Spurs goods seized from European cup

Confiscated: The confiscated merchandise

By Lucy Purdy

AN "Aladdin's cave" of football merchandise was confiscated by Haringey Council officers during six Champions League games.

Police and council officers picked up thousands of counterfeit goods which were falsely displaying the Spurs brand as well as logos from competing football clubs.

With six Champions League games at White Hart Lane this year, each European game attracted local and foreign illegal traders who came from as far away as Spain.

Officers said that the traders often hawk their wares inside cafés, restaurants, pubs, betting shops or directly on the streets around the ground. They try to shift fake merchandise, namely football scarves bearing the Tottenham brand and that of the competing European club, as well as T-shirts, hats and badges, which are often sub-standard.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, Haringey's cabinet member for neighbourhoods, said: "The counterfeit items are sold more cheaply than the legitimate items and are often of an inferior quality than the real merchandise.

"But when fans are caught up in the thrill of a European match they may be easy targets for unscrupulous sellers."

The actions resulted in five successful prosecutions for illegal Street Trading and Trade Mark Act offences, more than £2,000 in fines and costs, and the confiscation of £6,000 worth of goods.

Untrained singers sought for new community choir

FRUSTRATED song larks bursting with untapped vocal talent are being sought to swell the numbers of a new community choir based in Tottenham.

Tom Fowkes, 30, hopes to bring membership of the New Tottenham Singers to a crescendo by encouraging would-be singers of all shapes and sizes to come along and add their voices to the group's diverse mix.

Practices are held every Tuesday between 7.30-9.30pm at St Philip the Apostle church in Philip Lane, and already between 50 and 60 people go along regularly since the group's inception in November.

Founder Tom, from Bruce Grove, whose work as a professional freelance musician, conductor and arranger has taken him around the world, told the Advertiser more.

He said: "We are there to sing well but to also have a great time doing it. My approach is that anyone can learn to sing and it is really a good thing to do as individuals and as part of a group.

"We have a very vibrant social scene – lots of trips to the pub afterwards and things at weekends – and we are open to people of all ages and all abilities.

"Our tagline is that we actively and positively represent the community and there is a wonderful atmosphere at practices."

The New Tottenham Singers helped brighten the day of diners at San Marco restaurant in Bruce Grove by singing there on Saturday afternoon, and also completed a triumphant performance at a Christmas concert just weeks after the group was established.

The choir's current set-list reflects its eclectic style, with a song called For Now, from the hit musical Avenue Q, sitting next to a rendition of Somewhere Over The Rainbow, a Latin rock arrangement of Fly Me To The Moon being performed before the The Rhythm Of Life from the musical Sweet Charity, and then a spot of Ave Verum, by Mozart.

The choir also has a growing youth section which rehearses both separately and alongside the adult singers.

Bland ahoy, Jack!

Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides (12A)

Dir: Rob Marshall.

Starring: Johnny Depp, Penelope Cruz, Keith Richards, Judi Dench,

JOHNNY DEPP'S impressive resume is littered with oddballs. Yet of all his eye-catching roles, he is probably best known as salty seadog Jack Sparrow in the Pirates Of The Caribbean series.

Certainly, it was the first to earn him an overdue Oscar nomination as Best Actor.

Orlando Bloom and Keira Knightley may have sailed off into the sunset for the fourth installment, but Depp hoists the mainsail once again as the most fey and quixotic pirate to sail the seven seas.

Alas, if the third chapter of the series, At World's End, was a waterlogged bore, On Stranger Tides is moored in similar shallows, almost capsizing during an uneventful middle section that should have been edited judiciously to take the running time below two hours.

The introduction of 3D, purely for financial rather than any obvious artistic reasons, doesn't help the film either, making scenes seem darker, including a night-time attack on the pirates by a school of mermaids that is a whirl of digitally rendered gloom. This time around, Jack joins forces with Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush) to locate the Fountain Of Youth. The quest becomes infinitely more perilous when Jack is forced aboard the Queen Anne's Revenge, captained by legendary pirate Blackbeard (Ian McShane), who is also seeking the Fountain, aided by his daughter Angelica (Penelope Cruz).

On Stranger Tides starts off promisingly with a fast-paced extended sequence in London, which sees Jack escaping from the king's men by riding on the roofs of moving horse-drawn carriages.

Once the film takes to the water, the plot springs leaks and simmering screen chemistry between Cruz and Depp surprisingly never catches light.

McShane is a woefully ineffectual villain while Rush seems to be daydreaming of happier times on The King's Speech.

Depp is still funny, however, even his talents cannot keep an entire blockbuster afloat, and the film runs aground.

Taxi Driver (18)

Re-release of one of Martin Scorsese's and Robert De Niro's greatest moments. If you've never seen this journey into New York's heart of darkness, you are in for a treat; if you have seen it – but only on TV or DVD – then book now for a big-screen cinema experience par excellence.

Julia's Eyes (15)

Julia must race against time to find out what happened to her dead sister before her eyesight fails. Gores aplenty in this Spanish melodrama. Boasts an evocative score to add weight to the tension.

Hanna (12A)

After a promising opening in the Arctic snow, Joe Wright's film about a girl trained to be an assassin slides into a confusing and ridiculous mess. Is it a thriller? A comedy? A nightmarish fairytale? With no clear direction, Hanna goes nowhere fast.

Wake Wood (18)

A couple mourning their dead daughter find an unnatural form of hope in the seemingly idyllic hamlet of Wake Wood. But, when the gods wish to punish us, they answer our prayers...

PAVLYUCHENKO HAILED BY BOSS

By Dominique Stafford

HARRY REDKNAPP hailed Roman Pavlyuchenko after the striker scored both goals to help Tottenham Hotspur end their season on a high by beating Birmingham City 2-1 on Sunday.

Like the rest of Spurs' forwards, the Russian has found goals hard to come by for much of the campaign, but his spectacular double in this match, including grabbing the winner with virtually the last kick of the game, gave manager Redknapp – who is expected to revamp his front line over the summer – a timely reminder of his quality.

"He took his goals well," the boss said. "He's always likely to do that because he's a great striker of the ball."

"He has dynamite in his boots. When he's on form he is fantastic. I have been to France to watch players three times in the last week, and I'm looking at them and thinking they're not as good as Pav."

The victory helped consolidate Tottenham's grip on fifth place in the final Premier League table – securing a spot in the Europa League in the process – while defeat condemned Birmingham to the drop.

Meanwhile, Redknapp has admitted that he expects Jamie O'Hara's loan switch to Wolverhampton Wanderers to turn into a permanent move after the midfielder played a vital role in helping Wolves to narrowly stave off the threat of relegation.

But chairman Daniel Levy has sought to reassure fans that Spurs are not planning to sell any of their leading players despite their failure to secure a spot in the Champions League.

Supporters had been concerned that the likes of Luka Modric or Gareth Bale could leave White Hart Lane after they missed out on a top-four finish, but the chairman insisted in an open letter that this would not be the case.

Levy said: "Having quality players means they automatically attract attention from other clubs – but I can assure you we have no reason to sell, and have every intention of retaining our key players. We shall simply not entertain any approaches for these players."

Proving his worth: Roman Pavlyuchenko netted twice on Sunday

Highgate's poor start to cricket season goes on

HIGHGATE'S miserable start to the season in Division Two of the Middlesex County League continued on Saturday as they suffered an agonising one-wicket defeat at home to Acton.

Rooted to the foot of the table after losing their opening two matches and having had two points deducted for fielding an unregistered player, Highgate looked set for a much-needed boost when they amassed a competitive 226-9 and then reduced Acton to 61-7.

But the hosts were defied by a remarkable innings from Matt Reeve, who ended on an unbeaten 117 as the visitors somehow made it to 229-9 – despite 5-73 from Jared Treadaway.

Elsewhere, Evan Flowers hit a brilliant 178 and Alex Hill added 98 as North Middlesex amassed a massive 360-5 to secure a winning draw against a Harrow Town side who could only reach 239-6.

However, Hornsey had to make do with a losing draw despite coming within one wicket of beating visiting Shepherds Bush.

Anthony Murphy (93) and James Bull (51) were the main contributors in Hornsey's 227-7, but although Bush were reduced to 192-9 in reply, their faster rate of scoring meant that it was the visitors who picked up the four points.

North London also had to make do with a losing draw from their trip to Barnes in Division Three, reaching 200-7 in reply to the hosts' 252-9.
